Saw you today at Atlanta Airport. I shook your hand and thanked you for making a stressful day better.. Found you because I tweeted on the Atl airport twitter page. Here is what i wrote about it on my FB page.

"Sometimes little moments make a difference. I am traveling home after a stressful business trip made more so by the fact that my luggage was lost (and may never be seen again). And while making a leisurely connection in Atlanta I came across this wonderful musician. I just stopped and listened and breathed deeply. I filmed the passerby's on purpose. It was like he was a songbird in an intersection. Afterwards I walked up and shook his hand and thanked him for making my day better. He seemed genuinely pleased that his music was heard and made a difference to someone. Sometimes little moments make a difference."

Blessings,

I am writing to share appreciation for the beautiful, peaceful music that was playing in the airport by the guitarist. I remember entering the Atlanta airport thinking, "Wow, I can't believe Delta is playing such conscious music," and I thought the music was coming from an intercom. When I got my ticket and headed for the line, I saw a man playing a guitar with a foot pedal looper. What he was creating calmed my nerves and made my experience in the airport enjoyable.

I appreciate the opportunity to share this feedback with you. I wish all airports had this kind of musical medicine to help soothe the stress of hectic crowds and traveling.

Sincerely,
Jai Maa

I sat and listened to you on October 20th around 1-2pm at the Atlanta airport. I mentioned I took lessons in college from Pepe and Celine Romero and was starting to get back into it. You are very inspirational; your repertoire is amazing! (um, SUNBURST? WOW).

Please forward to me your footpedal that provides the background music; I'd like to explore those capabilities.

Keep playing and know that you made an indelible mark on my soul.

Thank You,

~Paul

On December 13 in the Atlanta airport, I enjoyed hearing a musician play in the concourse. When I tried to tip him, he thanked me but refused the money, suggesting instead that I write a note of appreciation to this email address.

I just found this information today (stuffed in a drawer with other important notes as well as a lot of discardables) and remembered how much I enjoyed hearing that musician, and how much I wished at that time that every airport had live musicians at work in their public spaces.

If this is you, young man, thank you and I'm sorry it took so long to provide feedback. If this is the airport, well, you made a wise decision by giving him time and space to perform.

Thanks again,

Your guitar playing made our time on concourse A so enjoyable. You certainly are a fine musician. I hope you can pass along this compliment to the airport
It's a great idea and I hope they will continue and do this on every concourse
Thankyou

Hi! Just wanted to say I really loved the guitar music that was live at the airport a few days back. It really helps make the whole travel experience one of delight. Thank you for this lovely surprise! I certainly hope to hear more as I am very often in the ATL airport.

Thanks,

John,
Great playing and thanks for showing me all your gear! It was nice to hear some live music during the hectic trip. With all the pedals and loops, it sounds like so much more than one guitar!
It's these nice touches that make me want to fly through Atlanta rather than other airports. A little Southern hospitality goes a long way, right?
Cheers,

I had the pleasure of hearing the gentleman play guitar with amazing quality and talent while I was recently traveling through the Atlanta airport. I simply had to stop and appreciate it.

Thank you

Thank you so much for playing at hartsfield terminal C today!! I know there are many people go to and fro but your music brings a calming peace to what can be a hectic atmosphere!!! I, and I know many other, appreciate your talent!!!

And thank you for taking the time to play Fragile by Sting!! Absolutely made my day!!

Please keep me informed on any other live shows you have coming up!! Can't wait to come! 🙌

Many thanks John and all the best,

Clint 😊

I really enjoyed your music at the ATL airport. It transported me to a serene place. I forgot for a moment that I was standing in a metropolitan airport.

Thank you. Dena Fisher

Hello,

I just wanted to say that John, who played the guitar in the domestic terminal today, was phenomenal and very refreshing. I love the combination of songs he played, and wish to listen to him again.

Thank you for allowing him to perform in a public area like that, the music was a highlight in my very hectic day.

I love your music... it's beautiful and brings life to the airport

Why #atlairport ✈️ is my new favorite you ask? At first it was the staff that work here and their #culture they've created. THEN I heard a sound from a distance pulling me in and BAM! Jon here from #sonicyogi has developed #soundhealing ice never heard before!! Check it out because this video doesn't even come close! 🤗✈️ Live music in an airport is BRILLIANT!! ❤️
